Most recently, the group received 2 gold certifications for their "Daft Punk" medley and cover of Imagine Dragons' "Radioactive" ft. Lindsey Stirling. That's Christmas To Me was the 4th best-selling album of 2014. The group released their very first documentary (On My Way Home) which follows the quintet on their sold out 2015 North American Tour featuring behind-the-scenes footage, live performance and the making of their debut studio album, Pentatonix. The group is set to embark on their 2016 World Tour starting in April and release their second single "If I Ever Fall In Love" ft. Jason Derulo.

Us The Duo has amassed a fan base of over 10 million followers since launching their groundbreaking #6SecondCovers online. After becoming the first artists signed to a major label from Vine, the couple released their 2014 album No Matter Where You Are, appeared on major national TV programs such as Good Morning America and Today, and even joined Oprah Winfrey's "The Life You Want Weekend" tour. Two years later, the duo has just announced their new independent album Just Love, which is out on July 22, and are currently on tour with GRAMMY winning a cappella group Pentatonix. With the release of Just Love and a summer headlining tour, Us The Duo is hyper focused on two things: their music and their fans.
